Writing to the District Commissioners relative to the alleged insanitary condition of the Johnson public school building at Mr Pleasant, Mr. Joseph Leicester Atkins, after referring to the recent investigation of the structure by District officials, says;

ander B. Legare, Mr. Montgomery Baair and Mr. Caspar Crowninshield. The ceremony was followed by a breakfast at the residence of the bride's mother. Mrs. Thomas Campbell Cox, on G street, which was attended by relatives and a few personal friends. The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Long were among those present at the ceremony and breakfast. Late this afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Benet left for New York, where they will remain until December 27, when they will sail for Europe, Intending to make their future home in Parls. The bride of today is one of the attractive and at the same time one of the most popular young women in society. Her father was the late Thomas Campbell Cox. and she is the niece of Justice Cox. Mr. Benet has had a responsible position at the French capital for several years, where his mother, Mrs. Sephen V. Benet, widow of the late chief of ordinance, U. S. A. has resided with him. Mr. Benet's acquaintance in Washington is as extensive as tinat of his wife, and every day of his present visit has been full of the hospitalities offered by old friends to himself and his bride.

The wedding gown was of white satin, very elegantly trimmed with duchess lace and chiffon. A bertha of lace trimmed the bodice and a panel of chiffon down one side of the skirt had cascades of the lace at either side. A tulle veil was worn. Her shower bouquet was of lilies of the valley and white orchids tied with white gauze ribbons. The bride wore one of the splendid gifts from the groom—a corsage ornament set with many large damonds. The maid of honor wore white organdle and lace over light green lows. Her bouquet was American beauty roses. The bride was escorted into church by her brother, Mr. William Robinson Cox of New York. Among the out-of-town guests present were Mr. Otis Glazebrock of New York, Mrs. John Calvert of Philadelphia, Mrs. Hobson, Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Scott, Mr. McEldery and Mr. Ed. Rob tson of Baltimore, Capt. Walker Eenet. Watervliet arsenal. Troy, N. Y. Miss Dyer and Mr. J. L. Taylor. Both resident and "It is said that changes and improvements ought to be made, but that there is a question whether they will be made." This, Mr. Atkins believes, appears tantamount to an open declaration that this public school building is a menace to the health and building is a menace to the health and possibly the lives of the pupils who enter it, but that it is an "inconvenience that must be put up with."

He is of the opinion that as a consequence of this the taxpayers who can afferd to do so will send their children elsewhere, not to public schools, for others than the Johnson school are not available to the residents of the locality, but to private schools. He thinks those who cannot afford the expense of private tuition must either keep their children out of school or send them at the risk of their health.

By order of Miss Julia Duvail Smoot, daughter of Mrs. John D. Smoot, was the charming debutante of yesterday. The family residence, 3017 N street, Georgetown, was thronged during the two hours of the reception and the younger contingent remained for a dance and a supper. The spacious drawing rooms of the colonial mansion were most elaborately decorated with Christmas greens, trailing vines and plants, while red roses and poinsetta blossoms formed brilliant dashes of color on the mantels and tables. The attractive young heroine of the afternoon, who stood with her mether to receive, was gowned in white silk mull over white taffeta, and carried a great cluster of American beauty roses, one of the many beautiful tokens sent her.
